DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 12-43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Smiroldo in view of Hartnett.

Smiroldo teaches all the elements of the claimed invention with the exception of accumulating the bids received from bidders included in the respective bidding group's list of associated bidders. On the other hand, Hartnett teaches aggregating bids for accumulating an asset (see claim 1). Accordingly, to provide the system of Smiroldo with an aggregation of the bids received from bidders included in the respective bidding group's list of associated bidders, as taught by Hartnett, would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention. The motivation for such a change would have been to enable widespread share ownership of large assets.

Art Unit: 3627

Response to Arguments

Applicant's terminal disclaimer filed December 13, 2004, with respect to claims 12-43 have been fully considered and has been accepted. The rejection of claims 12-43 over obvious-type double patenting has been withdrawn.

Conclusion
